

Kirk and Ray - Bananamania

Hold this Kirk...
Behold! The atheist's nightmare!

???

Now if you study
a well-made banana...

You will find on the far side there
are three ridges.
On the close side, two ridges.

If you get your hand ready to grip a banana you will find on the far side
there are three grooves, on the close side two grooves.

The banana and the hand are perfectly made, one for the other.

And not just made
to fit the hand, Ray!

Not now, Kirk.

Kirk and Ray - Bananmania

You will find the maker of the banana, Almighty God, has made it with a non-slip surface.

That's why you put lube on it, Ray!

Kirk!!

It has outward indicators of inward contents - green, too early; yellow, just right; black, too late!

Now if you look at the top of the banana you will find - as with the soda can makers ...

who have placed a tab at the top - so God has placed a tab at the top.

When you pull the tab, the contents don't squirt in your face.

I know what you mean, Ray!

Kirk and Ray - Bananamania

You will find a wrapper which is biodegradable, has perforations.

Notice how gracefully it sits over the human hand. Notice that it has a point at the top for ease of entry -

- just the right shape for the human mouth.

Or any orifice, really...

It's chewy, easy to digest - it's even curved towards the face to make the whole process so much easier.

Raymond, don't tease me!

Seriously Kirk, the whole of creation testifies to the genius of God's creativity.

Ohhhhhh!
